This is a custom textbook published specifically for our EOSC 114 course.

Our Course textbook was chosen because of its content, readability, and appropriateness for our target student audience. We know that you will learn much and enjoy reading this newly adopted textbook by Keller, et al.! It is very well written, is very informative, and is especially focused on the Canadian scenario. It treats each topic as both a natural phenomenon and a human hazard. It also features personal accounts of the disasters as well as profiles of scientists and technicians who study these hazards.
